Elizabeth Dignen, Borden, Will Be Valedictorian of Class of '37

AHS Senior Has Three and One-Half Year Average of 91 per cent — Helen Crawford, Cameron, is Salutatorian—Class Has 47 Candidates for Graduation—Robert Dykins is Class President.

Elizabeth Estelle Dignen, Borden, will be the valedictorian of the class of 1937 of the Addison High School according to Principal Irving R. Gladstone, who announced the list of marks yesterday. She has an average in all subjects, based on regents and final examinations of 91 per cent. This average is for the three and one-half years of school.

Helen Isabelle Crawford, Cameron, will be salutatorian with an average of 89.566 for the same period. Honorable mention goes to Paul George Richtmyer, Cameron, with and average nearing Miss Crawford with 88.793.

Others in the upper quarter of the class for the same three and one-half year period are: Betty Rosenkrans, Helen Eva Allison, Harold W. Wheaton, Elizabeth Jane Pepper, Robert Church Dykins, Arloween Space, Arthur Putnam, Linsford R. Calkins and Mary Jane Dascomb.

There are 47 candidates for graduation in the class this year, one of the largest classes in the school's history.

Class officers have been elected as follows: President, Robert Dykins; vice president, Helen Crawford; secretary Helen Allison; treasurer, Paul Richtmyer and class advisor, Miss Alice Bailey.

Six Initiated Into Grange

Six candidates were given the first and second degrees at the regular meeting of the Addison Grange held Friday night in Grange Hall. Those initiated were: Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Kane Sr., Paul Kane, Kenneth Dann, Willis Colburn Jr., and Joseph Coleman.

Mrs. Henry Shelanskey read a poem, "If's for Grangers", written by State Master Raymond Cooper. A paper on "Why Join the Grange" was read by Wilbur Bulkley. Plans for a third and fourth degree were made. The degree team will practice Monday, April 19. A picnic supper will precede the rehearsals.

Triple V's Discuss Science and Religion

The land of "Sunny Fountains and Golden Sands" will be the topic for discussion at the next meeting of the Triple V Guild of the Methodist Church to be held April 26 in the church parlors. A meeting was held Monday night at which the topic for discussion was "Science and Religion". Karl Chupp was discussion leader and outlined ideas whereby science and religion are in agreement.

Miss Vesta Wilson was in charge of the devotional period. A game program was held under the direction of Mr. Chupp, who is chairman of the program committee for April and May.

PAST NOBLE GRANDS ELECT

Members of the Past Noble Grands Club of Addison Rebekah Lodge will be entertained at the home of Mrs. Josephine Clark, W. Farnham St., Tuesday, April 20 at two o'clock. Election of officers will take place at the business meeting.

Mrs. Carrie Phillips has been confined to her home by illness.

Wire Down Near Erwin Shuts Off Power Here

Electric lights and power were off over an hour here Friday morning, from 8:25 to 9:40. The heavy rain storms followed by snow caused a main line to be torn down near Townsend's Grove. Lights were out, electric apparatus in homes and offices ineffective and power at a standstill, where dependent upon the utility company. Workmen were rushed to the scene and made repairs as soon as possible.

WOMAN'S AUXILIARY

Members of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Chapel of the Redeemer met at the vicarage Thursday afternoon.

Plans were discussed for a card party to be held April 19, a parish supper April 26 and a rummage sale May 1.

Those present were Mrs. Fred Clark, Mrs. E. D. Curtis, Mrs. Charles Crans, Mrs. John M. Crane, Mrs. Howard Strait, Mrs. Wellington Hammond, Mrs. Samuel Kick, Miss Corinne Bausch and the Rev. Thomas A. Withey.

GRASS FIRE TUESDAY

Grass and weeds in the rear of the Martin home in West Front Street caused the fire department to be called out Tuesday. There was no damage to property.

GIRL SCOUT NEWS

Members of the Addison Girl Scout troop held a regular meeting at headquarters Thursday afternoon.

Plans were made for a hike to be made some Saturday during the current month, members of the Bird patrol were given a health test and games were played.

Those present were the leader, Mrs. Kenneth Armstrong; Helen Lyons, Barbara Keck, Helen Auringer, Mary Charlotte Archer, Margaret Gladstone, Martha Laffkas, Katherine Lyons, Mary Lyons and one visitor, Mary Hess.

Binghamton Woman Guest at Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Sly were hosts at a party given at their home Saturday evening in honor of the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Claude McPherson of Binghamton, a week-end house guest.

Refreshments were served after a social evening. The guests attending were: Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd McPherson and Miss Kathleen Westover of Endicott; Mr. and Mrs. Claude McPherson, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Marlett and baby, Mrs. Martha Marlett, Miss Irene Marlett, Mrs. William Leonard, Gervis Leonard and Harry Thrasher of Binghamton; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Morehess of Elkland; Mr. and Mrs. Byron Blanchard and Max Thompson of Knoxville; Miss Sara Sly, Douglas Sly and the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Sly.

The group from Binghamton were also week-end guests.

Jubilee Singers At AHS Today

The Utica Jubilee singers, a quartet of Negro graduate students from Utical Normal and Industrial Institute, Utica, Miss., will entertain at the weekly assembly period to be held in the Addison High School. The date for the assembly has been advanced one day and will be held today, Thursday at 2:45 this afternoon. The public is invited to hear this famous quartet which has traveled throughout the world in the interests of promoting a greater understanding of Negro music. They sing folk songs, humorous songs, spirituals and classical selections.

Appeal Made For Scout Budget

The preliminary reports from twenty eight communties in the Steuben Area Boy Scout Council that will stage a simultaneous appeal for the support of the Annual budget are indeed encouraging, as reported Tuesday by Attorney Clyde E. Shults of Hornell who is chairman of the Finance Committe. Mr. Shults based his report on the information given his associate, Kenneth B. Plants, who has during the past ten days personally interviwed each local share man — as the local key man is designated.

The Council budget has been lowered by $1000 and the prospects of over subscribing it are good. At a recent council-wide meeting held at Salubria Inn, Bath, each of the several local representatives in the council voluntarily indicated their willingness to assume the shares assigned. Generally the shares are assigned on the basis of twenty cents per capita of population. There are a few exceptions. The two cities have taken shares at approximately twenty-two cents per capita of population.

If the appeal is successful a second part-time executive will be employed who will render direct service to Troop leaders and do no other work. This, according to local leaders will be an added council service now being left entirely to the district commissioners who are of course, volunteer workers.

WOMEN ENTERTAIN

Mrs. Herbert Willson and Mrs. Karl Smith entertained with a variety shower in the Crystal Grill recreation rooms in Corning Saturday evening honoring Mrs. Miles Kelly of Salamanca, a recent bride.

Bouquets of daffodils and roses and attractive place cards made pleasing decorations for the table from which refreshments were served. An evening of games was enjoyed and the complimented guest was presented a variety of attractive and useful gifts.

Guests present included Mrs. Frank Kelly, Mrs. Thomas Hopper, and Miss Hildred Hopper of Addison; the Misses Florence Wilson, Beatrice Clark, Elnora Ash, Louise Giblin, Viola Vail, Katherine Burke, Mrs. Ward Williams and the complimented guest, Mrs. Kelly.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Moore and son Warren were guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Maguire of Canisteo, Sunday.

Fred Hurd of Painted Post visited at the home of Ralph Towsley, Saturday.

Avon Civil War Veteran Buried-Was Addisonite

Jason B. Benedict, born on Addison Hill May 13, 1839, was buried in Avon last week, and laid to rest with full military honors, according to a notice in the Avon Herald-News. He was a sergeant of the 136th infantry, New York Volunteers in the Civil War and was listed as Avon's last survivor of the War of the Rebellion.

Services were held in the Central Presbyterian Church with Rev. Robert Higinbotham, Palmyra officiating. The request for him to officiate was made prior to the death of Mr. Benedict.

Preceding the church services members of the American Legion and Auxiliary, Geneseo Band, members of the Women's Relief Corps followed the remains to the church and the band played with muffled drums enroute to the cemetery where an American Legion burial service was held.

Mr. Benedict leaves two great-nephews here, these being Clarence and Robert Bullock.

British Labor leaders took a crack at Prime Minister Baldwin this week to force the government to lift the insurgent blockade of the Spanish port of Bilbao. Meanwhile the giant British warship, Hood, was ordered by the government to sail to Spanish waters to protect shipping of the Empire outside the three-mile limit.

The Hershey Chocolate Company strike ended Tuesday when hundreds of men and women returned to work in the big stone factory. The strike climaxed a week ago when a group of irate farmers rushed a delegation of sit-down strikers forcing them away from the plant, because the dairymen were losing $10,000 worth of milk a day through the strike.

* * *

Despite the opposition of Governor Lehman, G O P leaders are planning to press their demand for a financial survey of the state by a non-partisan commission. The proposal came after Lehman called on the Legislature to enact a tax of 24 million dollars against the utility companies of the state to finance unemployment relief. The state budget is already the largest in history.

Grangers Will Meet Saturday In Canisteo

Grange officers and members are invited to participate in the regional conference to be held in Canisteo, Saturday, April 17. The object of this regional conference, which is being held in every county, is to promote interest in Grange meetings and to develop members and lecturer programs of interest to Grangers. Masters and lecturers are especially invited to participate and all others who can.

The program will begin at 10 o'clock with greetings by Deputy Arnburg. Lecturer, service and hospitality programs will be discussed and the methods of improving the lecturer's hour. A roll call of Granges and a question box will close the morning program.

The afternoon program will begin at 1:45 after the noon recess and luncheon hour. Projects for 1937 will be the first item of discussion to be followed by "What Our Grange Needs". All those attending are asked to come prepared to ask questions and to bring suggestions.

Mrs. Stella M. Fuller, state lecturer, will be in charge of the program.

AHS Musical Units Capably Present Concert

A large and appreciative audience attended the annual spring concert given by the chorus, band and orchestra of the Addison High School Tuesday night. In addition to the affair being a social and musical treat, it was a financial success for the sponsors as nearly $50 was realized from the sale of tickets.

The program was well balanced with extracts from the classics and popular favorites throughout and members of the audience found something to their liking in the variety of selections chosen for presentation by the groups.

It would be unfair to single out any selection in any one of the four parts of the program as some one part of every selection made it remembered long after the baton had descended upon that particular selection. Joseph Greyback directed the units in their work, with the exception of the second grade choir, which was under the direction of Mrs. Francis Hill.

There was a lustiness in the band selections which made those present mark time and there was a fineness in the orchestral numbers well worthy of more than a high school unit and the vocal interpolations by the mixed chorus swung into familiar Neopolitan nights with Janet Taylor as accompanist at the piano.

Mr. and Mrs. George Little of Cameron Mills spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Leland Little.

Corning Woman is Chosen Rebekah Deputy in Woodhull

Representatives of Four Lodges Meet for Annual Session—Mrs. Perkins Assured District Appointment Mrs. Husted Retires—Addison, Woodhull, Corning and Painted Post Represented.

Card Party Planned to Pay Hospital Bills of Young Man Injured Playing Basketball

Plans were made at the A. H. S. Student Council Friday afternoon to hold a benefit card party to raise funds to pay the hospital costs of Walter Perkins, Jr., school basketball player injured last winter. The card party will be given May 4.

Several forms of benefit entertainment were suggested by the students and faculty members of the Council, among those discussed being an amateur hour and a faculty play. The latter was favored by a number of persons, but the plan was discarded because of the press of work in the school as time for final examinations is approaching.

The president of the Council named Mrs. Frank Finnerty as a representative of the faculty and John Orr as a representative of the students, to complete details for the benefit party. They in turn will name the necessary committees for putting on the event.

Young Perkins was injured while practicing basketball in the school gymnasium. While the Board carried liability insurance the insurance company refused to indemnify the young man for his hospital bills on the grounds that there was no negligence apparent in the case. Perkins suffered an unusual fracture, the break coming in the arm at the shoulder where it was impossible to set the bone without an operation. It was necessary to get a specialist from Rochester to perform the operation so that the entire bill ran up to $319.50. As the young man's family has been subjected to an enormous amount of expense the past year it is impossible for them to pay this bill for the son. And in any case everyone connected with the school believes this hospital bill should be met by funds raised by students and townspeople, as the boy was practicing for contests to maintain the name of the school when injured.

At the meeting Friday representatives of a number of organizations in the school pledged various sums now on hand to be turned into the fund for paying this hospital bill. These funds totaled $154.30. It is believed that another organization in the school will raise an additional $50. It is hoped the card party will net enough money to wipe this "debt of honor" off the school's slate.

School organizations drew upon their treasuries for the following funds, several items representing the entire balance groups had on hand: Second English class, $20; Reflector, $32; Students' Association and Athletic Association, $55; Knitting Club, $5.30; School Lunch, $10; Faculty Club, $25; Commuters' Club, $7. The Senior Class representative also pledged whatever sum the members could raise for the purpose.

The general committee named the following as committeemen:

Ticket committee: Mrs. Helen Hill and Janet Whitmore, co-chairmen; Irving R. Gladstone, Harry Chase.

Prize committee: William Lundrigan and Betty Pepper, co-chairmen; Miss Florence Edwards, Mildred Holt, Miss Dorothy Reynolds.

Entertainment committee: Frank Finnerty and Helen Crawford, co-chairmen; Miss Alice J. Bailey, Joseph Coleman, Joseph Greyback.

Games committee: Wendell Hewson and Betty Perry, co-chairmen; Robert Dykins, Miss Ida Haweeli, Lawrence Gardner.

Tables committee: Kenneth McCaig and Edward Horey, co-chairmen; Arthur Peck, William Croft, Mrs. Ida Smith, Charles Cook, Mrs. Edith Apgar, Paul Kane, Paul Thompson.

Cards and Tallies committee: Miss Helen Smith and Maude Butler, co-chairmen; Mrs. Cora Sanford, Mrs. Nina Mann, Jean Ripley.

Refreshments committee: Miss Bethel Caster and Frances Strauss, co-chairmen; Mrs. Velma Hopper, Arlowene Space, Miss Genevieve Hoaglin, Lucy Beers, Mrs. Julia Ginnane.

Clarence Houck Has Untimely Death in Auto Mishap Thursday

Wife Finds Mangled Body Friday—Had Been Missing Since Wednesday Night—Car Turned Over Twice on Pinnacle Road — Vicinity People Heard Cries But Unable to Trace Sounds.

Clarence Houck, 52, was found dead beside his wrecked automobile early Friday afternoon after being missing since late Wednesday night. He was found about a mile east of Addison. His wrecked motor car was found at the foot of a 50-foot embankment by his wife, Mrs. Stella Houck. It is believed he was enroute to his home on the Pinnacle when his car left the road. Mrs. Houck noticed car tracks in the road Friday afternoon and noted where they apparently left the highway. She looked over the embankment and found her husband's twisted and mangled body. Death was caused from internal hemorrhages, fractured rib and exposure.

Mr. Houck was last seen leaving Addison in his car at 1:30 A. M. Thursday by Chief of Police Elmer Bovee. Henry Smith was driving the car at that time. Chief Bovee ascertained that Mr. Smith and Mr. Houck had been at the California Cabins until closing time and returned to this village. Mr. Smith told Chief Bovee that he drove the car to the intersection of South and Cleveland streets. Mr. Smith stated he then walked to his home and Mr. Houck drove his car east on the highway leading to the Pinnacle.

Harold Stowell, who is connected with the Sheriff's department was at the scene with Dr. Stuart Bean and Supervisor Walter Goff shortly after Mrs. Houck reported her gruesome find and reported on what he had seen to the sheriff's office. Chief Bovee's investigation was made Friday night upon his return from a tour of duty for the District Attorney's office which took him outside the village.

Mr. Houck left his home Wednesday morning to do a paper hanging job for Mrs. David Pitts. Mrs. Houck was not alarmed when he did not return Wednesday and Thursday nights, but Friday began a search for him which ended in her gruesome find.

Mrs. Edward Holmes, Front street, told Chief Bovee that Thursday she heard human cries from the Pinnacle and started out to investigate. Enroute to the Pinnacle she met three fishermen who reported hearing the cries also but thought the cries were those of an animal in distress.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Webster were fishing in the vicinity of Grass Eddy around three o'clock Thursday afternoon and they also reported hearing sounds twice during the afternoon but were unable to trace the source of the sound. These sounds have since been attributed to the unfortunate man's dog who may have found the body and tried by his cries to attract attention.

Mr. Houck was born in Addison, a son of the late Dr. and Mrs. J. C. Houck. His father formerly conducted a dentists' office here. He married Estella Mourhess who survives, with his mother who lived with him.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon from the home of Willis Colburn, Grove street with the Rev. Kenneth Arnold of the Baptist Church officiating. Interment was in Addison Rural Cemetery.

TAX EXEMPTS

Today is the last day for filing income tax returns in the state of New York. Most persons with large enough incomes to have to file a return will have done so before the last minute. Yet there is a large army of salary earners (or at least drawers of salaries over the minimum amounts) who have been laughing up their sleeves while Mr. and Mrs. John Q. Citizen have been laboring to make out their income tax returns.

According to a recent survey there are 300,000 public employes in this state who earned more than $700,000,000, yet were exempt by law from payment of $2,500,000 in income taxes. State, county, city, town, village and improvement district jobholders pay no tax upon their earnings from those sources. Federal employes residing in New York paid no state income tax. A few state jobholders, headed by Governor Lehman, who sponsored the increase in state eax effective this year, pay no tax of any sort upon their salaries.

This is a travesty upon representative government. Electing men to office, who in turn appoint others to office, and then pass direct taxation laws which exempts themselves and their appointees. They are like a trained steer in the stockyards which leads a herd of other steers up the ramp to the slaughtering pen, and then turns aside while his brothers get their throats cut. Our legislative officials think so highly of themselves they enact tax laws to take dollars from everyone who has a few, save themselves.

It is about time those who pay the taxes should begin to let the legislators know they want them to share in this little game of supporting the government. Perhaps if they had to dig down for taxes themselves, they would be a little more careful how they spend the taxpayers' money.

A DARK CLOUD

(From Newsdom)

If by any chance the President's proposal to pack the Supreme Court is approved by Congress we wonder what will happen to the press of this country.

The court has long been the guardian of our liberty. Under its decisions not only the majority but the otherwise defenseless minorities are protected. If the court is brusquely shanghaied to the grave there can be no doubt that our politicians will vent their partisan spleen on the press, the only remaining bulwark of our liberty.

It is no secret that politicians and honest editors are constantly at loggerheads. The average politician stands for plunder. His code is the code of the jungle. The average editor has devoted his life to protecting the taxpayers from that plundering.

When the politician becomes bold enough to betray his trust to toss his oath of office into the discard, to mock at our institutions and to build his political machine with funds stolen from the public coffers, obviously his motive cannot be the betterment of his fellow citizens. The editor's job is to halt him before he Tammanyizes the entire nation, as so many of our critics are Tammanyized today by wardheelers and their brothers in crime, labor racketeers.

But how can an editor stop the maraudings of the politicians, the living lie, if the editor can no longer turn to the highest tribunal in the land for protection?

It matters not what the objectives of the present Administration are. They may be sincere. They may not. We do not know and we cannot guess for the devil himself cannot read the mind of man. But we do know that if the Congress smashes the Constitution to satisfy a whim of the Administration a potential dictatorship will be set up in Washington which will hang like a dark cloud over the land. Whether a New Dealer, a Democrat or a Republican is elected in the White House in 1940 that cloud will still be there, a temptation to the lowly politician to stifle those who would dare expose his machinations.

SOCIALIZED MEDICINE

Some of our political and welfare leaders have been advocating that the U. S. turn to socialized medicine. The principal argument used seems to be, that other countries have adopted such measures. One of our American magazines asked in a recent number if the following were true: "Is it, or is it not a fact that sickness insurance in Germany has created a scandal in the large amount of funds used for administration?"

The question is answered by a report of the American Medical Association which shows that in 1930 the German system employed some 36,000 doctors and 32,000 bureaucrats directing the doctors. But four years later the picture had changed, in 1936 there being only 32,000 doctors and 36,000 bureaucrats were directing the doctors.

Is it any wonder that Dr. Brumm, head of the Philadelphia County Medical Society, writes that most of our hysteria in favor of socialized medicine is based on false premises? We only have to look around us to observe that doctors in this country suffered about as deeply as any class of people during the depression. No one will ever know the extent of their self-sacrifice in attending poverty-stricken patients they knew they would never get a cent of pay from. Somehow private medicine maintained the health of our people during depression at higher than prosperity levels.

It is no wonder medical men are opposed to our turning to socialized medicine. The ones who desire to lead us along that path are those with a bureaucratic viewpoint, who are most interested in creating political jobs for the horde of the "faithful" always clamoring for a soft place with good pay and little work.

LOVE OF BEAUTY

With the advent of Spring many people are thinking of love, not necessarily love as the poet would have a "young man's fancy" turning towards—but love of the great outdoors, flowers, shrubs and everything which grows in God's bright world. When the air took on a softer tone Monday morning many people in this community instinctively thought of planting gardens. They began searching in beds and borders for the early Spring bulbs which are now just beginning to push up through the moist ground, and a few were already able to admire the first blooms of crocus—that sure harbinger of Spring.

Gardening is probably instinctive in the human race. It comes to everyone of us from the beginning of human history when primitive man ceased to depend entirely upon hunting for his food, and turned to the rudimentary cultivation of the soil to tease a few plants forth for sustaining life. There is nothing which brings a person so near the Diety as to cultivate a bed of flowers. Just to put the seeds in the ground—watch the tender shoots push up through the soil to be nursed, watered and tended until maturity—then to see the swelling buds burst forth at least into glorious bloom. It is hard to imagine any blasphemous person working among flowers, for they are too nearly the symbols of faith, hope and love.

There will be many beautiful flower gardens in Addison thus summer, yet not so many as there should be. Some communities seem to literally breathe beauty through their flowers, in every visible niche and corner. One passing through such a village or city is prone instinctively to think that "this would be a fine place in which to make a home." That is because the spirit of friendship is carried to the visitor through the flowers—speaking a language which all can understand. Like a smile, a flower will speak any language. What is more, the flowers of a community reflect the mood and tastes of those that dwell within it. Pass through a community with barren yards and unkempt lawns, and what opinion do you form of the inhabitants? You think of them as careless, slovenly and unfriendly.

Sometimes there are many persons in a community who have a latent love for flowers and an instinct for beautifying their own grounds and public spots. Yet they do not do as much of that as they wish. Why is that? Because there are children in the community who have not learned appreciation for flowers. Having no appreciation of the beauty of flowers these children become careless and sometimes are even malicious in destroying the flowers of others. Sometimes they will rush into a yard and pluck off with careless fingers the blossoms someone has spent a year in growing—sometimes they will drag heedless feet through borders where new sprouts are poking their tender tops up to be easily destroyed.

Yet ordinarily the children are not so much to blame as their parents. The latter should teach them that the property of others must be respected. And flowers are just as much property as money—they cost plenty of money to raise in effort and expense. And on the other hand, to the lover of flowers, the loss of them through malicious acts is worse than the loss of money which might be replaced in a few days; whereas the flowers cannot be replaced for an entire season.

One of the chief reasons this village has not as beautiful flowers growing in profusion, as it might have, is the lack of any community organization like a garden club. A garden club not only stimulates the growth of flowers and shrubs, but it exerts a great influence upon a community. And when public sentiment is strong enough in any community for things of beauty, the children of that community do not destroy flowers.

TAXING THE LITTLE FELLOW

People of small and moderate means may think they escape taxation because they pay few or no direct taxes. But they are in reality among the heaviest taxed of all people, on a percentage basis.

A study conducted in two typical states, Illinois and New York, by Dr. Mabel Newcomer, Vassar economist, is of special interest. In New York a typical wage-earner with an income of $2,000, pays $267 to $334 annually in taxes. In Illinois, where there is a sales tax, he pays between $279 and $359.

On a national average, taxes take approximately 20 per cent of income. This money is collected mainly through indirect taxes. The tax paid by the shoe manufacturer and the retail store, is passed on to the shoe buyer. The tax levied against the electric company is necessarily a substantial part of the consumer's bill. So it goes, with everything we buy, luxury or necessity.

Congress Inquiry on Sit-Downs Urged So That Nation May Judge

By MARK SULLIVAN

PARALLEL with action in Congress about sit-down strikes, which action is not yet very conclusive, several state legislatures are taking steps. The legislatures seem more forthright than Congress.

In Texas a pending bill makes sit-down strikes a crime punishable by imprisonment up to two years. The circumstances of the introduction of this bill suggest that the Texas Legislature feels strongly. The time had expired when bills of this kind could be introduced in the ordinary way. The Legislature, however, suspended its rules by the four-fifth vote necessary in this circumstance.

But what if this Texas bill and similar bills in other Legislatures are passed? They will add nothing. They do not remedy the real difficulty or even aim toward it. Sit-down strikes are already illegal under the law as it exists everywhere. Every court in the country will on application declare such a strike illegal and order the strikers to cease occupancy of the building. If the strikers fail to obey the order of the court the court will direct the sheriff to arrest them and remove them.

It is at this point that the real difficulty arises. No sheriff, alone is able to arrest and remove the large number of men who are commonly involved in a sit-down strike. If the sit-downers do not voluntarily obey the order of the court, the sheriff must have help. He can get help in two ways. He can apply to the Governor for use of the armed forces of the state, the National Guard; or he can swear in as large a number of deputy sheriffs as he thinks necessary.

Both these methods have been tried. In sit-downs in Illinois and California the Sheriff swore in deputies. In Illinois the deputies evicted the sit-downers by force. In California the sit-downers quit when they realize that the Sheriff and the other law enforcement officials were in earnest.

The other method was tried in the sit-down in the General Motors plants at Flint, Mich. There the Sheriff asked the Governor of the state for help. The Governor did not reply to the request, but conducted conferences between heads of General Motors and heads of the striking union which resulted in compromise. Only after this compromise did the Flint sit-downers leave the plants. The order of the court in Flint was not obeyed. The law was not enforced.

The Flint judge would have been just as helpless if there had been on the Michigan statute books a law making the sit-down strike a felony. The heart of the situation was the lack of action by the Governor when the Sheriff asked him for help. Governor Murphy's inaction may have been wise or unwise. It may have averted violence or it may in the long run lead to greater violence. At all events the condition in Flint was one which could not be remedied by another law. The lack was a lack of enforcement. What is true of Michigan is true everywhere. What is needed is not a new law, nor more law but enforcement of existing law.

The principal effectiveness, if any, of enactment of the Texas measure and of the similar measures in other state Legislatures will be as expressions of opinion. When the Legislature of any state makes the sit-down a crime, and if the vote in the Legislature is overwhelmingly to this effect strike leaders may be deterred from beginning a sit-down. Also, Governors of such states will presumably take account of sentiment as expressed by the Legislature.

It is upon Governors and other law enforcement officials that the burden lies rather than on Legislatures. A number of Governors, including Governor Cross of Connecticut and Governor Hoffman of New Jersey, speaking in advance of any sit-downs in their respective states, have announced that they would enforce the law. In such states following these announcements sit-downs have not been held. Announcement by a Governor of intention to enforce the law seems more effective than the course taken by Governor Murphy in Michigan, for within two weeks after his course in the Flint strike he had on his hands another sit-down, larger and more serious, in Detroit.

As to the steps taken or proposed in Congress, the best promise of usefulness lies in a not-much discussed action proposed by Representative Martin Dies, of Texas. Mr. Dies proposes that there should be an investigation by a committee of Congress into all phases of the sit-down strike. Such an investigation would be as illuminating as the one recently made into the use of spies by industrial employers. The investigation, it goes without saying, ought to be conducted by judicially minded men. It would summon and hear witnesses having knowledge of every aspect of the sit-down strikes that have taken place and of the particular labor unions that have conducted them. Such an investigation would bring out facts which the resources of newspapers and other agencies are unable to assemble. It would give to the public light upon many matters of which the public knows little. It would answer questions about which the ordinary flow of news is inadequate.

Selective Spending

By WALTER LIPPMANN

Recently the President took notice of the inflationary condition of the markets and announced that the government would begin to move against it by buying less steel and copper and cement. This means in practice that Mr. Ickes is to build fewer steel bridges and concrete dams and that Mr. Hopkins is to dredge more channels and build more earth dams. This is called "selective spending" and the idea is that the government can influence the boom character of the markets by refusing to buy things, like steel and copper, which it thinks are too high in price.

As a measure to affect the present markets in steel and copper we may be reasonably sure that this policy will have no noticeable effect. The amount which the Federal government buys is an insignificant fraction of the total demand throughout the world, and at the present time Mr. Ickes's bids will not be missed. Back in 1933 the state of things was quite different. Then all the steel and copper producers of the world were looking for buyers. Good fat orders from the P. W. A., especially with the tariff to exclude foreign producers, would have employed a lot of men here and used a lot of materials, and this increased income would have done a good deal of pump-priming where it was needed. But today the demand for steel, and I suppose, for copper is world wide and insistently greater than the supply. Merely to stop priming these particular industries can have no practical effect.

The indirect effect of the President's policy is, however, of considerable importance. For by making a loud noise about the copper magnates and the steel industry the Administration is covering its retreat from a big public works program. This is important. In view of the conditions which Mr. Eccles described to the country, some way had to be found by which Mr Wagner's housing bill, the projects for a series of T. V. A.'s on all the great rivers, the Florida ship canal and other great and expensive public works, could be kept in what the President called "the blue print stage."

He had to knock them on the head without hurting too much the feelings of his own supporters. And since it is not politically expedient any longer to do anything directly. Mr. Roosevelt slapped big business on the wrist as a device for convincing Mr. Wagner and others that, though he cannot give them the money, his own heart is still in the right place.

This ingenious political maneuver may at least make it possible for the Administration to keep Congress from unbalancing the budget even more than it is now unbalanced. The big additional public works plans are not to be started just now, if the Administration can prevent it. This is a sound decision. For the time to undertake big public works is on the downward slope of the business cycle, and the time to make blue prints is on the upward slope.

But we must not deceive ourselves into thinking that the threatened inflation is checked by not undertaking the big public works which Congress would like to vote for. All that does is to protect us from putting additional fuel on a fire that is already well supplied.

An inflation exists when people are trying to spend more than they have produced. If I grow a melon and eat it, there is no inflation. But if three unexpected guests arrive with their mouths watering, and if I have to divide that same one melon among the four of us, then there is inflation. My income from the melon is now one quarter of what it was. Although the world economy is much more complicated than this, the melon illustrates what is going on.

If we look at this country and the world as a whole we see a large number of persons producing melons. But we see also a large number of persons who are not producing melons but have legal tender in their pockets entitling them to share in the melons that are being produced. These persons get this legal tender by digging gold out of the ground which is promptly buried again by using the printing press, and by having the banks write figures in books.

All the principal governments, our own among the leaders, are manufacturing this artificial purchasing power, and the reason we are threatened with a world-wide inflation is that the manufactured purchasing power is being created faster than real goods that people eat, drink, and use.

Take first the gold. The United States government pays $35 an ounce to anyone anywhere who brings gold to the Treasury. When the gold is brought to the Treasury, it is buried in vaults. For two years we have been buying all the gold that is dug out of the ground in the world and then at considerable cost and trouble we have put it back in the ground.

But though the gold is back in the ground where it came from, the man who sold the gold to the Treasury has $35 of newly printed money to spend in the United States. His money is as good as if he had sold us something we could use. So the result is that, without adding anything to our current stock of real wealth, we have multiplied the number of persons who are legally entitled to share it.

This is the basic gold inflation, and there is no cure for it except to stop buying gold by reducing the price, or to use the gold to buy goods abroad that we can use and do not have to bury in the ground.

Take next the printing press money. The Federal government, state governments, cities, and most of the big powers abroad, are now paying some part of their expenses by printing money. It is not called that. But it is that. The governments do not print money. They print bonds. These bonds, or at least a considerable part of them, they sell, not to investors who have saved money out of their income but to banks which give them the right to draw checks to pay officials and soldiers and workmen and contractors. This money which the banks give the governments is not merely the money that people have deposited with them. It is anywhere up to, say, ten times as much.

This purchasing power was not earned. It does not represent goods produced that are offered in exchange for other goods. It is artificial purchasing power which enables persons who do not produce melons to share what melons there are. Naturally, the melon producers have less melon to eat; they are the victims of an inflation.

What this means is that a deficit financed by inflationary money is an inflationary deficit whether you spend it on armaments, the unemployed or on the joy of burying gold in Washington that has just been mined in South Africa.

Jefferson's Birthday and Its Message

By RAYMOND PITCAIRN
National Chairman Sentinels of the Republic

"The whole art of government consists in the art of being honest."

This is one of the most famous utterances of Thomas Jefferson, author of the Declaration of Independence, third President of the United States, and, in the words of a noted biographer, "the foremost expounder of the rights of man."

As, at this time, an entire nation observes the anniversary of his birthday, many other of his admonitions may well be recalled. Here are a few, whose value is as great today as when, in the early days of our Republic, they were first uttered by one of the greatest of our Presidents:

Liberty:
"Liberty is the great parent of science and of virtue; and a nation will be great in both in proportion as it is free."

"Our liberty depends on the freedom of the press, and that cannot be limited without being lost."

The Constitution:
"I wish support from no quarter longer than my object candidly scanned shall merit it; and especially, not longer than I shall vigorously adhere to the Constitution."

Respect for Law:
"Laws made by common consent must not be trampled on by individuals."

"The voluntary support of laws, formed by persons of their own choice, distinguishes peculiarly the minds capable of self government."

Individual Enterprise:
"Agriculture, manufactures, commerce and navigation, the four pillars of our prosperity, are the most thriving when left most free to individual enterprise."

Personal Rights:
"It would be a dangerous delusion were a confidence in the men of our choice to silence our fears for the safety of our rights."

Home Bureau Women Plan Active Period During May

Mrs. Clifford Moyer has been elected chairman for the coming year for the Addison Home Bureau. The election was held following a business meeting and dinner held in Addison Grange Hall Wednesday afternoon.

Others who will serve with Mrs. Moyer during the coming year are: Vice chairman, Mrs. Roland Dininny; secretary Mrs. Forrest Herrington; treasurer, Mrs. R. Greengrass. Mrs. Moyer was re-elected to the chairmanship after serving during the past year.

Announcement was made of the coming classes in "Good Grooming" which are to be held April 20 in the home of Mrs. Kenneth Armstrong; April 21 in the home of Mrs. Clara Kirkland and April 22 in the home of Mrs. Elroy Hannahs.

Plans for the spring council to be held in Canisteo April 23 at 10 A. M., were announced. All leaders are urged to attend and others who desire to. The project leaders for the local chapter are: Housing, Mrs. Thomas Hopper; household management, Mrs. Clifford Moyer; food and nutrition, Mrs. Robert Magoon and Mrs. Helen Reynolds; clothing, Mrs. Earl Beatty and recreation, Mrs. Kenneth Armstrong and Mrs. Esther Stewart.

The last meeting of the group will be held in May according to present plans. Housing tours for women of this vicinity will be held May 6 and 7, the first being near Savona and the second in the vicinity of Hornell and Greenwood.

The next general meeting for all groups will be held May 19 in the local Grange Hall. The hostesses will be: Mrs. Mary Gee, chairman, Mrs. Paul Green, Mrs. Lyman Gardner, Mrs. William Hallett, Mrs. Halph Hand, Mrs. Elroy Hannahs and Mrs. Jennie Hendley.

Mrs. Hannahs will entertain the garden club of the bureau at her home May 5. The topic of discussion will be perennials. Suggestions were given at Wednesday's meeting for the program for next year. These will be discussed at the May 23 meeting and the final acceptance or rejection of the suggestions will be at that time. There are 100 women members of the local home bureau.

Steuben Scouts Complimented On Camping Program Project

Officers of the Steuben Area Boy Scout Council of which all Troops in this district are a part were slated this week when recognition was given the accomplishments of Area Troops in 1936.

L. L. McDonald, Director of Camping, for the Boy Scouts of America in his analysis of the Steuben Council's annual report had this to say—"Your Council is certainly to be congratulated on the splendid achievement in the outdoor program results indicated in your 1936 Annual Camping Report. I hav noted particularly the number of Scoutmasters and Troop officers who camped with their boys and served as leaders in your camping program. Thre is no doubt that in this feature lies the solution of our problem of bringing Scout Camping to a larger number of boys each year.

Yours is one of the Councils that in spite of obstacles, has shown an increase in camp enrollment. You have definitely contributed to the national grand total which shows more boys enrolled in Scout Camps than for any year in the history of Scouting.

Trained volunteers, a Troop-centered program, and a Council staff whose chief ambition is to be helpful to Scoutmasters and Scout Troops, are essential to the success of our camping program. The Troops and Patrol method is the only authorized way of operating the Scout Program at home or in Camp."

In announcing this recognition—John S. Bennett of Horell, Chairman of Camping for the Steuben Council, and John E. Bird of Corning, Chairman of Senior Scouting, made this comment jointly—"The Steuben Council has really just begun its Troop Camping program. 1937 will certainly see more Troops at the Council Jamboree, more scouts camping at the Jamboree and older Scouts developing a new type of program with Sea Scout Cruises and the contemplated hiking projects which promises to usilize for inter-Troop use at least twenty separate Troop camp sites and cabins.

Astronomy For Boy Scouts

Chapter II

Dr. Harrison Franklin Rall says: 'Our earth is a tiny fragment. Our sun a million times larger, is but a 'dwarf' among the possible two hundred million suns in our particular galaxy. And Spencer Jones, Astronomer Royal of England, in his 'World Without End', estimates that a telescope like that of Mount Wilson might disclose seventy-five million such galaxies or universes as curs. And here is man, arriving but yesterday, after uncounted ages, and declaring that the key to the universe is spirit such as he."

We might make comparisons with some other suns in our universe. It would take 100 suns like ours melted into one to make a sun as large as Sirius, which is said to appear to us as the brightest and most magnificent star in the heavens. But when we compare Sirius with Arcturus we find that it would require 300 suns the size of Sirius to make one Arcturus, the light of which was used to start up all the brilliant lights of the last great Exposition in Chicago. Then we find that not less than 300 suns of the size and brightness of Arcturus would be needed to make one Canopus, and Canopus is equal in bulk to 1,000,000 suns like ours. This means that the distance between us and some of those suns is unthinkable. The same thing may be said of Deneb and Rigel and many others. The nearest object known by astronomers to our solar system is Alpha Centauri, which is 277,000 times our distance from the sun. This star is said to be forty times brighter than our sun.

Vega is one of the very bright stars in the constellation of Lyra, the Harp; it is said to be thirty times as bright as our sun. Light would consume twenty years in coming to us from Vega. It is called the Arc Light of the heavens.

The light-giving power of Arcturus is probably equal to 1,300 suns like ours. If our sun were as distant as Arcturus, it would be a telescopic object not visible to the naked eye. Capella in Auriga would be sixty times as bright as our sun if brought as near, and is said to give out about 200 times as much light. Deneb is Signus is said to be about 1,000,000 times larger than our Sun.

The W. C. T. U. will meet at the home of Miss Hazel Space, Tuesday, April 20, at 2:30 P. M.

There didn't used to be any sit-down strikers when we had all those old-fashioned family conferences in the woodshed.

Epworth Leaguers See Small Bible at Institute

One of the two smallest Bibles in America was exhibited to members of the Epworth Institute Bible Class at sessions held in the First Methodist Church, Painted Post, Tuesday night. This was the second of the series of institute evenings planned for the Corning District of the Leagues. The Rev Mr. Falk of the Scandinavian Methodist Church exhibited the small book, which had to be read with a powerful magnifying glass.

Delegates to a council will be chosen at the next institute meeting Tuesday night. This council will consist of the presidents of each league and two elected delegates.

Those attending from Addison Tuesday night were: The Rev. Garland G. Lacey, pastor, Wilbur Bulkley, Miss Betty Pepper, Douglas Hand, Robert Johnson and Karl Chupp.

Safety Essay Contest Closes Friday in AHS

The safety essay contest being conducted by the Crane Insurance Agency for the students of the Addison High School, will close Friday, this week. The awards will not be announced until the assembly period next week instead of this week as previously announced. The change is made owing to a change in the assembly program from Friday to Thursday. The change will give contestants extra time to submit their material.

In conjunction with the campaign, students in the classes of Kenneth McCaig have been constructing miniature projects and posters on safety. These will be exhibited in the Crane window during the week.

Safety Projects Made By AHS Students

Safety projects have been the object of study in the grade and junior high schools during the past week and the courses culminated with the completion of miniture projects and the making of posters by the students.

Kenneth McCaig's classes in the grade schools made these projects as part of their work in social studies and in Junior High School. Mrs. Nina Mann science classes constructed bird houes as part fo an advancement program.

The winners in the various events are listed as follows.

Winners of Safety projects in Social Studies Classes, Kenneth McCaig, Teacher.

Posters — 1st, Ruth Jones, Grade 8. 2nd, Ruth Sherwood, Grade 9 3rd, Madeleine Apgar, Grade 9, 4th Mary Magoon, Grade 8.

Construction work — 1st, Warren Perkins, Grade 9, 2nd, Harry Murry, Grade 8, 3rd, Junior Reynolds, Grade 8, 4th, Esther and Frieda Cook, Grade 7, 5th, Peggy Knebel and Anne Flynn, Grade 8.

Booklets — 1st, Irene Damon, Grade 8, 2nd, Elaine Howard, Grade 8, 3rd Dorothy Green, Grade 9, 4th, Geraldine Pepper, Grade 9.

Winners of the Bird House contest in Junior High Science Classes, Mrs. Mann, Teacher:

8th Grade Boys — 1st Donald Swan, 2nd Junior Reynolds, 3rd Harold Hargrave.

7th Grade Boys — 1st, Ralph Vona and Richard Gladstone, 2nd, Edward Russ, 3rd, Loren Schoonover.

8th Grade Girls — 1st, Esther Whitmore and Glenora Towner, 2nd Norma Newman, 3rd, Elaine Howard.

7th Grade Girls — 1st, Blanche Garner, 2nd, Esther Cook and Frieda Cook,, 3rd, Lela Dann and Joyce Allen.

Four-Day Sensation In News Headlines

"Four Days Wonder," a modern romantic comedy of errors, opens Friday at the Avon Theatre, starring Jeanne Dante, Universal's new screen discovery. The story is taken from A. A. Milne's novel of the same title, which relates the exiting and laughable adventures of a young girl who runs away from an accident, fearing that she will be blamed. Some neighbors call in a detective who finds a dozen different mystery clues to as many various crimes when he investigates..

His theories are aired in the head lines. His first guess is murder then kidnaping; thereafter espionage by international spies; finally he suspects a ring of criminals instituting a reign of terror. The further it goes, the funnier it gets during a four day sensation in the newspapers.

After Jeanne Dante makes her terror stricken flight she meets a young chap, portrayed by Kenneth Howell, who is all sympathy for her troubles. Jeanne is further aided by Martha Sleeper. A celebrated author, played by Alan Mowbray, becomes embroiled in the matter and the detective, in the person of Walter Catlett, does his best to get the novelist into jail. Margaret Irving is prominent in the cast as Jeanne's aunt, victim of the accident.

The script writers, under instructions to preserve the bright comedy situations of Milne's book, added sprightly dialogue in tempo with the fast paced action.

Tris Speaker, former great baseball outfielder is slightly better after a fractured skull suffered in a two-story fall.

County CMTC Allotment Is Increased by Twenty

Steuben County has been allotted 20 additional recruits for the Citizens Military Training Camps in the Second Corps Area according to word received here. Lauriston Walsh, lieutenant colonel of the 392 infantry, charged with recruiting, sent a letter to the American Legion officers here thanking them for their part in getting the first group of enrollees so promptly signed for the month in camp at government expense.

The additional enlistments are open to boys from 17 to 25 years of age, single and in good health. Those who desire to attend may secure applications from Commander Clare Chart of the local American Legion post or from William Newman, post adjutant.

The newspaper advertisement can have as much news value and reader interest as the news items.

FORMER BUYER OF OTHER LOW-PRICED CARS FINDS IT PAYS TO CHANGE TO THE BIGGER, SMOOTHER, SMARTER PONTIAC

Won by Pontiac's beauty and size, this motorist looked up the price and discovered this amazing fact: based on 18 months terms in 168 representative cities, the average difference in monthly payments between a Pontiac DeLuxe six 2-door sedan and the same model of the next lower-priced cars is only 15 cents a day. As you might expect, no time was lost in buying the finest low-priced car. And ownership brought another great discovery! Pontiac is far and away the most economical car this experienced motorist had ever driven! Yes, it pays to change to a Pontiac—you get more satisfaction in every way. If you doubt it, drive a lower-priced car, then step into a Pontiac and prove what a world of difference in value Pontiac offers for a very small difference in price.

Try These Body-Building Recipes in Your Kitchen

Spring days were "sulphur and molasses days" in the time of our grandmothers, who believed in a seasonal body-cleaning as well as the regular spring house-cleaning! There was some reason for the theory, too, for in those days winter diets were so limited as to be deficient in minerals and vitamins. And even today, when fresh fruits and vegetables are available all the year 'round, we are likely to use fewer of them in winter. We get less sunshine, too, in these darker months. Plenty of milk, fruit and vegetables in the spring diet will counteract this situation and build us up for the increased activity required of our bodies in the seasons to come.

Here are two good recipes suggested by Mrs. Charles Kilmer, Advisory Committee Woman of district 20-A of the Dairymen's League. She recommends serving the prune nut cookies with a pitcher of cold milk. "You'll have a truly protective dessert if you do", she says, "because milk and prunes are excellent sources of minerals and, to go back to the idea of our grandmothers, nuts are one of the richest sources of sulphur. As for the cream fruit salad dressing, just try it and I'm sure you'll find yourselves repeating it on your menus all through the spring and summer."

Prune Net Cookies

1 cup butter
2 cups brown sugar
2 eggs
2 cups flour
1 cup whole wheat flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup chopped walnuts
1 cup uncooked prunes coarsely chopped
2/3 cup milk
½ teaspoon vanilla.

Cream butter and sugar, add gradually and beat until smooth. Add beaten eggs; mix well. Then add sifted dry ingredients and milk alternately. Add prunes, nuts and vanilla. Mix well. Drop from a teaspoon on to a buttered cooking sheet. Bake in a moderately hot oven (375° F.) for 12 dozen small cookies or 5 dozen large ones.

Pineapple and Cottage Cheese Salad With Cream Fruit Salad Dressing

Slices of canned pineapple, or fresh pineapple, lettuce, cottage cheese.

Arrange pineapple on crisp lettuce leaves. Place a spoonful of cottage cheese on top and serve with cream fruit salad dressing. Any fruit juices may be used in the following recipe. Garnish with a colorful fruit such as red grapes, cherries or strawberries.

½ cup sugar
2 tablespoons flour
1 egg
¾ cup pineapple juice
¼ cup lemon juice
½ cup whipping cream

Mix sugar and flour in top of double boiler, add egg, and blend ingredients. Add fruit juices and cook until dressing is thick and smooth, stirring occasionally. Cool. Whip cream and fold into the fruit mixture.

FRUIT, FLOWERS AND GARDEN

Longer Gardening Season
C. B. Raymond

Two common ways to lengthen the home vegetable garden season are: first, choose early or short-season varieties; and second, make the plantings earlier.

The number of days from seed planting to harvesting varies as much as two weeks between different varieties of many crops. Most seed catalogs indicate the relative length of the growing season for the different varieties. The choice of two or more varieties of different growing periods will easily make a spread in the harvest season for the crop.

Hundreds of gardeners lose many days of the growing season each year because they do not have the ground fitted early enough or because they do not get at it after the ground is plowed or spaded. This is particularly important with crops that grow well in cool weather or that are spoken of as being hardy.

Spinach, peas, lettuce, radishes, beets and some other seed will germinate readily in rather cool soil, and the crop grows best when the temperature is not too high. Late planting of these crops not only delays the time of harvest, but also reduces the yield and sometimes causes crop failures.

Lack of enough fertility delays rapid growth of many crops. Another reason for slow growth, especially with root crops, is that the plants are too thick. This also may mean a reduced yield and poorer quality.

Care of Chicks

"Now that it is warm weather I can raise some chicks without much heat". "I think it is warm enough now so that I could place the chicks in a small coop without heat if the coop is tight". I think the old brooder house will be all right for a late batch without fixing".

How many people convince themselves that they can do those things they want to do by re-assuring themselves enough times. Because they try it they learn in the most expensive way. They must know beforehand that they are taking unnecessary chances with little to gain and a great deal to lose in chicks and disease infection of the premises.

If you cannot or do not wish to purchase a brooder and raise your chicks properly in the brooder house you can raise them equally well in small brooder boxes in the house with an electric bulb for heat. But trying to raise chicks out-of-doors without heat even in May or June is not advisable unless they are several weeks old at the time they are placed out.

In teaching chicks to eat, nothing works better than the small box brooder which can be purchased for less than $2.00. The openings at the front and side are just above the feed and water trays. The chick is attracted by the light, pokes his head through the opening. Instinctively he picks at things and finds what he needs in the trays without any attention from the owner.

In feeding for the first time on the floor of the brooder house spread newspapers down and sprinkle feed on it. This makes the feed easy to see and prevents the chicks from picking up sawdust or whatever litter is being used on the floor.

If the birds are healthy why feed them all sorts of pills in their water? It seems on trips around that half the chicks are drinking what looks like wine being given in metal trays where the chemicals may combine with the metal and poison the birds.

Start the birds out if they are day-olds with a temperature of 92° to 95°. Lower the temperature slightly each day or two. Give them a chance to choose cooler spots if they become too warm. Watching the action of the birds is the best indication of their comfort or discomfort.

Chevrolet Brakes Meet All Safety Requirements

One of the most important aspects of motoring these days is the business of motoring safety. Safety campaigns are under way in all the major cities of the United States. Various commissions have been appointed to study the problem and make recommendations to legislative bodies.

The primary responsibility for traffic safety, however, lies with the motor car driver.

The manufacturer has provided all the safety devices that the sane driver should require. He has built the Turret Top, all-steel body to protect driver and passengers. He has provided a powerful engine that has enough power to pull the car out of unexpected situations.

And in Chevrolet, we have given the public a new and perfected hydraulic braking system that is one of the safest and surest that it is possible to build.

There are more than 100 reasons why the Chevrolet brake is all but fool-proof, and these are the careful and meticulous inspections of every part that goes into the brake along with the checks that are made during assembly of the various brake parts.

A recent checkup of operations revealed that there are more than four-score of parts that go into the Chevrolet brake. Each is inspected during machining operations and at various specified intervals along the brake assembly line. Specifications must be met to the thousandth of an inch. Balance must be perfect, hardness and strength must conform to standards. Each part must fit the other precisely.

The checkup showed that there are over 100 manufacturing operations in the fabrication of the completed brake. Each of these includes an inspection by the worker on each particular job. In addition, special inspectors check up at specified intervals.

Exposed parts are given a bath in a special anti-rust solution to insure against deterioration and to guard against any possible impairment of the brake's functioning.

Within the shops, special safety features guard the workmen against all hazards. Each machine is equipped with guards to make it almost impossible for a man to get hurt.

The precise grinding of the brake shoes means that in the assembled brake the power is evenly distributed over the entire braking surface. The final adjustment of the brake provides that an expansion of nine-thousandths of an inch will brake the car.

From the hub of the wheel in to the little hydraulic cylinder that provides braking power, each part of the Chevrolet brake has been made to conform to rigid engineering standards to provide the utmost in safety insurance to the automobile driver.

Next to the alertness of the driver himself, the most important thing to be considered in motoring safety is the car's braking system.

Journalism is Assembly Topic In AHS Friday

"Over 200 years of American journalism and its future for young people" was the topic of a talk given by Harry Mullen of the Advertiser staff before the students in the Addison High School Friday morning at the weekly assembly period.

The speaker told of the calamity of 1923 when New York City was without a daily newspaper owing to a strike and the paralysis of all sorts of business as a result. He said in part, "Three cents buys the fortunes of many men and women and these men and women are interested in telling you of your neighbor through the newspaper, a handbook of life. The newspaper is the only reading done by three of the four newspaper readers in America.

"The terms used in publishing are these: newspaper is the printed publication, news is the printed matter of truth, timeliness or interest, press is the newspapers in the mass and journalism is writing and editing.

"The functions of the press are many: present matters of public interest, as a means of conversation, as a profit-making venture for the publisher, prevent crime, aid government and promote causes

"The first paper in America was 'Publik Occurrences' published in 1704, but only one issue and suppressed by Crown. Newspaper publishing started in 1725 with Boston News Letter started by Postmaster Campbell.

"Transportation of news was slow for it took 11 days for the news of Declaration of Independence to travel to the Hartford Current, the oldest continued newspaper in America today. In the olden days not so much importance was attached to events as at present for when Wellington won at Waterloo the story was carried on an inside page of the London Times in 300 words, but when Jack Dempsey met his waterloo, the New York World wrote the story in 46 columns". Other oddities in the collection and publication of famous news stories were presented by the speaker.

Mr. Mullen continued, "There are 60,480 chances for errors in an average newspaper page and the wonder is that there are not more errors, considering the speed with which papers are edited." Some of the humorous errors creeping into papers were given. Methods of presenting news were spoken of by Mr. Mullen.

The speaker outlined some of the advantages of the American lack of censorship over the European countries. He spoke of the educational requirements for a journalist and advantages of newswriting in preparation for other professions. He outlined some of his personal experiences and closed with a reading from a news clipping of an editor's true story of a wedding, "the unvarnished truth".

Success of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" Brings Invitation to Take The Presentation to Corning Church

The play, "Uncle Tom's Cabin", presented by the Men's Club of the Methodist Church Thursday and Friday evenings of last week drew an excellent crowd. While the performance was a little ragged in spots Thursday evening, the cast had become accustomed to the footlights by Friday and those who saw the play that night were enthusiastic in their praise.

The hit of the play was Topsy, played by Oneta Smith. Bert Rouse portrayed the part of Uncle Tom in an especially effective manner while Evelyn Sherwood as Miss Ophelia, Kenneth McCaig as St. Clare, Bill Fowler as Phineas Fletcher and Lela Dann as Little Eva, were outstanding characters. One of the features of the play was the scene of Eliza crossing the ice, the cakes being quite realistic.

Although put on at a popular price the play cleared the Methodist men approximately $100. It was directed by Kenneth McCaig, who was given a fine present by fellow members of the cast Friday evening. Oneta Smith won first prize among the ticket sellers with a total of 60 sales, while Madeleine Apgar with 54 sales ran her a close second for the other prize.

Uncle Tom's Cabin was considered such a success the cast has been invited to present it at Corning at an early date under the auspices of Grace Methodist Church.

The cast of characters was as follows: Uncle Tom, Bert Rouse; Aunt Chloe, Mrs. Edgar Dann, George Harris, Dick Hovey; Eliza, Vivian Jackson: Legree, Carl, Rouse; Cassy, Helen Knoaskern; Emmaline, Louise Watkins; St. Clare, Kenneth McCaig; Eva, Lela Dann; Marie, Mrs. Roy Omelion; Topsy, Oneta Smith; Miss Ophelia, Evelyn Sherwood; Phineas Fletcher, Bill Fowler; Gumption Cute, Roy Omelion; Mr. Wilson, Charles Bovee; Deacon Perry, Charles Bovee; George Shelby, Richard Dininny; Haley, Lawrence Johnson; Tom Loker, Ralph Hand; Marks, Charles Johnson; Sambo, Shannon Bovee; Quimbo, Bob Bullock.

A. H. S. to Have Veteran Ball Nine This Season

By Maynard B. Allen

When the Addison High Schools base ball team goes on the diamond in the B division of the Steuben County league, plenty of action is promised. It looks like Canisteo, Hammondsport, Avoca, and Dundee will have a good deal of trouble escaping the lances of the Addison Knights in their drive for first place.

With a total of 28 players reporting for practice there is a wealth of material on hand. This group of aspirants includes nine veterans and ten freshmen. Four first year men are fairly sure of a varsity berth, namely; Thompson, Heidrick, Kelly and L. Domonick.

The receiving end of the battery looks good with Bill Root and Francis Heidrick both capable of working behind the plate. Root will probably get the starting assignment as Heidrick is an excellent short as well as a backstop.

"Gunboat" Smith, veteran speed ball artist leads a better than average pitching staff with Louie Domonick bantam southpaw, Paul Thompson, hard hitting right hander, and Bernard Clark, new comer, who has shown that he has plenty on the ball, completing the ball slinging department. The last three members of the hurling staff are all freshmen playing their first year in league competition.

The infield should be the team's bright spot with veterans at all posts giving Coach Hewson two complete infields.

Raymond Hargrave, the only three year veteran on the team and a ball player of recognized ability is slated to bear the brunt of the work on the initial sack. Hobart Coon will probably see action before the season ends and Paul Thompson, freshman find of the year holds the reserve berth for this position.

John Orr will look after second in the same smooth, accurate manner he fulfills every athletic assignment given him. Tommy Lyons will give Orrie lots of competition as he is a cool, heady ball playr cut from the same material as Orr. Size and experience had a lot to do with this decision.

All eyes are at present on the battle between Fran Heidrick and Paul Thompson for short. Although both players hahve at least one other position they can play these two freshmen are determined to add to their list of diamond positions.

A toss up for the hot corner between Mike Triches and Paul Kane has caused this assignment to go unsettled as yet. Both have had a year's experience and are fair hitters making it even harder to pick the starter.

The outfield is the only part of the team with two vacancies. Joe Domonick is slated to caper around in the center section of the garden. Bob "Bitsy" Kelly looks like a find for left but there is a possibility of shifting some of the infielders out because of their hitting and erperience. Although such infielders would have to prove themselves superior to Homer Fritz, Gerald Oakden, and William Croft.

Other candidates were R. Reynolds, Crawford, Horey, Ackerson, Wilder, Shelanskey, S. Bovee, Stiker, Colburn and C. Bovee, several of these are freshmen making their first appearance on the high school athletic field.

Low RR Fares For Boy Scouts To Jamboree

How, What and Why

This paper has arranged with the Office of information of the New York State college of agriculture and home economics to answer questions about problems of farm and home. If you enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope, and mention the name of this paper, you will receive a direct reply to your query from the colleges. Do not ask more than one question in one letter or on one post card. Ask as many questions as you like, but make each one a separate communication.

J. B., writes: "I have several large English boxwood trees which are more than 90 years old. They were healthy until last spring when the leaves began to turn brown; some of the twigs died. I am enclosing a sample of the leaves.

"Could this be due to cold weather or to disease? What would you advise to strengthen the trees?"

Professor D. S. Welch of the plant pathology department replies: "Unfortunately, before your letter reached us the specimens were lost or mislaid.

"Several diseases might cause the browninig of boxwood leaves in the spring. The plants are very sensitive to extreme cold and, in this climate, must be protected, otherwise winter injury is likely to follow.

It is always good practice to remove dead twigs and branches from such plants. If you could send some of these to us, we might possibly be able to tell you more. We have also sent you a leaflet that describes one common disease of boxwood and another that gives suggestions on fertilizing."

Creosote Again

Mrs. E. C. B., asks: "Do you have any information about creosote in chimneys?

"The ice storm destroyed so much wood here recently that we are burning it. This has started the creosote running".

Professor A. M. Goodman of the department of agricultural engineering answers: "We have sent you sheet number 395 that has information on creosote in chimneys.

"In homes where wood is burned, the use of dry wood and keeping a brisk fire nearly all the time, or a very well-built chimney seem to be the only answers to this difficulty."

Savona Farmer Leases Choice Jersey Bull

One of the best bred sires ever to be brought into Steuben County has been acquired by H. C. Sanford of Savona, a five year old purebred Jersey by the name of Fancy Ganboge of Elmhurst.

The son of a 'proven' sire whose first ten daughters average 8589 pounds of milk and 490 pounds of butterfat, average test 6.46, his own daughters have records that are materially better than those of their dams at the same age, indicating that Fancy Ganboge transmits the high production which he inherited from his ancestors.

The purchase of this promising sire is the result of membership in the Dairy Record Club, as a result of which Mr. Sanford has obtained detailed information of the excellent quality of his own herd. Mr. Sanford is also a co-operator in the Better Sire Campaign, a project of the Farm Bureau in recent years.

Fancy Ganboge will be confined in a safety bull pen which is to be constructed on the Sanford farm. The pen will be modelled according to plans furnished by the Farm Bureau, and available to all farmers of the county.

Home Owners May Spend Half Billion to Paint Houses

According to the United States Bureau of Census, American home owners in 1935, the last year for which figures are available, spent more than $300,000,000 for painting of exteriors, exclusive of varnishes, wall-paints and other interior finishes.

Paint manufacturers expect American home owners will spend more than $500,000,000 for paint this year.

He was two and one-half years old. Someone left a door open and the world outside looked pretty attractive after always being carried or pushed along. So, he went into the world, looked it over and decided to see more of it. In the meantime his parents missed him, but what cared he, he was seeing the world and couldn't tell time anyway. He was found several blocks from home later in the day and quite happy too, but a little tired and rather glad to get back to a snug bed and some food.

—o—

The above leads me to follow it up with the belief that children and older people desire to be left alone many times but we think we are doing them a favor or helping them by making them do things they don't want to do, just because we think it will make them happy.

—o—

In the "Flashes from Our Exchanges" column this week is the story of a young man being killed from being sucked under a passing train. As I have watched trains flying by Main street, there has seemed some sort of fascination at the sight and drawing nearer and nearer the train, so that sometimes I feel I was actually being hypnotized.

—o—

I heard that prior to our publication of articles on cleaning Main street last week a committee of Main street business men were going to get up a petition and make a personal call on the mayor and trustees, to ask that this condition be remedied, and immediately.

—o—

This column is not meant to offend anyone or to ridicule. And it is not a personal spite column so please forgive any unintended sayings.

—o—

In addition to their studies, high school students will be busy with extra-curricular activities during the coming months, what with prize speaking, band, orchestra and chorus recitals, athletics and other things.

—o—

This is school tax collection time. Have you paid yours? In district one it is expected $10,000 will be collected by Mrs. Florence Newman, collector this half of the fiscal year.

—o—

American early marriages are pikers compared to a recent case disclosed in Calcutta, India. A girl of 17 has been wed to a boy 10 for nine years. No, that is not a mistake in typesetting. They were married when the boy was one year old and she was eight years old and she is now sueing him for separation and separate maintenance at $2.00 per month, contending he makes $14 as a cigarette stand proprietor.

—o—

Car 2 J 40—pulled to the curb in front of the bank and one fellow got out to talk to two girls, one of whom was reluctant to speak to him. So she walked away. Her girl friend who wanted to be sociable called after her, "I'll be mad at you Pauline if you don't". But Pauline kept on going, for a little ways, but got afraid she would miss something so she returned, four got in the front seat of a sedan and off they rode. Such is youth.

—o—

This sounded good to me. A Buffalo professional man was sent a bill for his club dues and he replied to the bill by sending the treasurer a check written on a wooden shingle. This was endorsed by the treasurer, cashed by the bank and returned to the Buffalonian for his check book.

—o—

Speaking of shingles John Chart showed me a hand hewn shingle found when his building was being repaired. The wood was well preserved, the work of the craftsman excellent and up went my estimation of the early builders of our communities.

—o—

What is so pleasing to the eye as the inner lights of a well-lighted church shining through the stained glass windows to a dark night. The outsider absorbs some of the inner glow, and then to hear music coming into the night, well, Folks, it just does something to you.

—o—

This is National "Be Kind to Animals Week" and for the life of me, I cannot see why we need a special week for this purpose. It seems to me that most anyone would be as kind to an animal as they would expect an animal to be kind to them. At the same time I don't particularly care for them myself, yet I could never knowingly hurt one. This is one week that should be continued through the year.

Some motorist felt rather abashed late Sunday night when his motor horn became stuck and blew for several minutes before he could get it stopped. Residents of Front street wondered what was going on.

That's all.

When Is An Agreement Not An Agreement

The common-sense statement that "Agreements not lived up to are no agreements", by William S. Knudsen, indicated that the patience of the General Motors official was worn thin by thirty strikes in the corporation's plants since Mr. Knudsen and other officials signed their agreement with the Lewis Union, on March 12. The agreement recognized the union as the collective bargaining representative of its own members, and obligated the union and its members not to call strikes without going through the arbitration procedure agreed upon.

The March agreement was hailed as a step toward industrial peace, but the public in general will lose confidence in such agreements unless the unions are able to live up to their parts of the contract.

The functioning of the General Motors agreement will be watched with interest, since it is very plainly up to the authorities of the union to see that its obligations are observed by its members.

Sit-Down Strikers Fined In Civil Contempt Case

Anderson, Ind. (IPS)—The wave of unlawful plant seizures by sit-down strikers has received a severe set-back by a ruling of Judge Charles E. Smith here.

In awarding a judgment og $9,850 against labor leaders, union organizers and employees who participated in a sit-down strike at the Alexandria plant of the Aladdin Industries, Inc., Judge Smith found the strikers guilty of civil contempt. Payment of damages was suspended, however, unless the strikers again violate a court order against occupancy of the factory.

Judge Smith assessed damages of $5,000 against the strikers collectively and damages of $1,000 each against three strike leaders. Other judgments ranging from $25 to $100 were assessed against sixty-one others.

Farm Prices Affected By Large Imports

It is popular in some circles these days to use complicated algebraic formulas to find out what is going on. One reason, of course, is that not everybody understands them. We don't know much about mathematics, but we can still add three I's together and at least guess at the total. Here they are:

1. Department of Agriculture press releases issued in two days said: "Fruit Prices Rise"; "Higher Hog Prices Expected this Summer"; "Expect Wheat Prices to Continue at Higher Levels"; "Cattle Prices Expected to Average Above 1936" and "Higher Spring Lamb Prices Forecast".

2. The Department of Commerce two days later reported that while exports of American farm products continued to drop, imports of foreign vegetable food products, including wheat, were 25 per cent higher than in February, 1936 — a year earlier—and that imports of edible animal products have risen 42 per cent in the same period.

3. The same day the Department of Agriculture issued its forecasts, The Associated Press reported in a story from Berlin that Nazi Germany is offering a subsidy of $400,000,000 a year to get a 30 per cent increase in farm production.

Why are farm prices higher? Crop reduction. Why are imports still on the rise? America does produce enough for itself. Why is Germany expanding its farm production? Because it must pay prohibitive prices for things it buys and because it sees a chance to get a share of the great American market.

Maybe we should let millions of acres of our farm land stand idle and buy from other nations. Or maybe we should use an algebraic formula to prove that 1 plus 1 plus I doesn't equal 3.

Map of Farm Required For Conservation Sign-up

Eight thousand copies of a printed circular which presents in detail the Agricultural Conservation Program of 1937, were mailed this week from the Farm Bureau office to box holders or rural routes serving Steuben County.

The purpose of the distribution is to acquaint all farmers with the provisions of the Act, so that each may decide for himself whether or not he desires to participate.

Co-operation with the program is entirely voluntary, according to a statement issued by Clair Arnburg, a member of the County Conservation Board, and all farmers are eligible to the benefit payments.

Briefly stated, the maximum payment on each farm is the crop acreage in 1936, at the rate of one dollar per acre. This allowance is earned in the application of lime and superphosphate and in the seeding of clover and alfalfa at the rates prescribed in the program.

Mr. Arnburg suggests that the first step for one interested in the program is to draw a farm map. Each field is lettered A, B and C, and the acreage is written in and the 1936 and the intended 1937 crop.

The next step is to arrange for an appointment with the supervisor for the purpose of filing an application. As the schedules are made up in the county office, Mr. Arnburg suggests that communication be addressed to the Conservation Committee, care of the Farm Bureau, at Bath.

In reference to the appointment Mr. Arnburg says that the plan is used to save time for the farmer and to make more efficient the work of the supervisors. Three thousand Steuben farmers will participate in the program in 1937. An early registration is desirable to avoid the confusion that is sure to prevail near the end of the sign-up period.

Presbyterians Elect Officers

The annual meeting of the Addison Presbyterian Church was held last Wednesday evening following a picnic supper served in the dining room. Walter M. Goff was elected chairman.

Two new church officers were created by vote of the membership, it being decided to elect two deaconesses, Mrs. S. M. LaGrange and Miss Fannie Curtis were elected to these new offices. Since the death of McNett Clement a little more than a year ago there have been only two deacons serving the Addison church, and the deaconesses will assist in the work among local poor families.

Horace G. Crane was re-elected trustee for three years. Miss Louise Harrison was re-elected church treasurer. Mrs. Carrie A. Crittenden was re elected financial secretary and Miss Dorothy Reynolds was elected treasurer of benevolence funds. Will B. Leete was re-elected church clerk.

Reports of the treasurers and the various organizations in the church during the year were read and approved. The annual report of the session showed that three members were lost through death, while seven new members were added, making a net gain of four in the church roll during the past year.

COINCIDENCES OF LIFE

It has often been said that history repeats itself. A coincidence which illustrates the truth of that axiom happened last week. The Advertiser force was clearing up a room last week to be added to the space used in publishing this paper when one of the boys picked up a copy of the New York Herald Tribune dated in 1918. Glancing down the page of theatre advertisements he noticed the billing of May Time, a stage play then prominent among the Broadway productions.

On the same day this ad was found in the old copy of the Tribune, the Addison Advertiser was carrying an ad of May Time to be presented on the screen of the Fox Theatre.

MRS. MARY BARTHOLOMEW

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary Bartholomew, whose death occurred April 5, were held from the Baptist Church in Addison at 2:30 Thursday afternoon, preceded by a prayer service at the home of her son, Hanford Bartholomew, on the Goodhue. The Rev. Kenneth E. Arnold officiated and burial was made in Addison Rural Cemetery. The bearers were Clayton Finch, Edgar Thompson, Duane Thompson, Arthur Gosper, Harold Rumsey and Henry Phillips.

Among those from out-of-town attending the funeral were Mrs. Milton Duvall of Gang Mills; Walter Duvall, Corning; Mrs. William Collins, Presho; Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Jones, Hornell; Mrs. Ray Thompson, Savona and Helen Rumsey, Bath.
